Subject: San Joaquin Repeal Language
Attachments: San Joaquin Settlement Language.pdf

Hi Tom and David,

Hope you both had a great Christmas and New Year's Eve.

Wanted to get your take on the San Joaquin River Settlement language in H.R. 2898 (sec. 313) as replacement for the language in the draft bill sent in early December.

As a reminder, the Settlement language in 1837 made strong edits to the Settlement, but preserved some of the legislation for funding purposes.

In 2898, we included full repeal of the Settlement and included our warm water fishery language that stipulates a warm water fishery below Friant dam to satisfy CA fish and game code and the Settlement. This language is attached. We are planning on replacing the Settlement language with the language from 2898. Please let me know if there are any concerns from you guys.

Thanks,

Kristina Dunklin

Legislative Director

Congressman David G. Valadao (CA-21)

Subject: CONFIDENTIAL - 115th CA Water Support Letter Request

All-

Happy New Year. We have worked on drafting a bill for introduction early this week. The bill is essentially H.R. 2898 with a few changes listed below:

1. Operations changes - replaced Title III from H.R. 2898 (114th) with Title I from H.R. 1837 (112th)
2. Language regarding the CA State Water Resources Control Board that will not have any legislative teeth, but will express Congressional opposition to their actions. Something like the language below:
CA State Water Resources Control Board - (a) In general - in carrying out this Act, the Secretaries shall (1) recognize Congressional opposition to the violation of private property rights by the California State Water Resources Control Board in their proposal to require a minimum percentage of unimpaired flows in the main tributaries of the San Joaquin River. (2) recognize the need to provide reliable water supplies to municipal, industrial, and agricultural users across the state.

3. Section 4008 from S. 612, WIIN.

Please let us know by 3 PM PST TOMORROW if your agency will be writing a letter of unequivocal support for this bill without conditions. Since this is past language you have already supported this shouldn't be a hard lift...you can even copy paste the same letter of support from last year.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me on my cell phone at (559) [REDACTED] - [REDACTED]

Thank you,
Cole

1. Are you available?
2. Where should we have lunch?

Secretary Jewell Lays Out Strategy to Address Impacts of Drought and Climate Change in California

Secretarial Order calls for actions by Interior and its bureaus to secure water supplies while providing environmental protection

WASHINGTON — U.S. Secretary of the Interior Sally Jewell today issued a Secretarial Order directing the Department of the Interior and its bureaus to take timely actions to help address the effects of drought and climate change on California's water supply and imperiled wildlife.

“Long-term drought, fueled by climate change, has adversely affected the state's water supplies, exacerbated effects of water operations on imperiled species, impacted water quality, and added to the stressors affecting the health of California's unique ecosystems, particularly the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta (Bay-Delta),” the order states.

“This Secretarial Order is a practical and broad-based strategy to help protect California’s water lifeline for present and future generations,” said Deputy Secretary Michael L. Connor. “This order will ensure the integration of the Department’s actions with those of the State of California to provide a reliable drinking water supply for the public, sustain California’s agriculture, and continue to protect the Bay Delta ecosystem and enhance the conservation of species.”

“Today’s action tracks closely with the state’s multi-pronged Water Action Plan and commits the federal government to a timely review of the California WaterFix project,” said California Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. “This state-federal partnership is what’s needed to improve water reliability for residents and farmers and protect vulnerable ecosystems.”

Developed in consultation with the state agencies and other federal agencies, the order specifies steps by Interior and its agencies to achieve “the State’s co-equal goals of providing a more reliable water supply for California and protecting, restoring, and enhancing the environmental quality of the Bay-Delta.”

The Secretarial Order issued today provides direction for the Department, and particularly Reclamation and FWS, with scientific support and technical advice from the USGS, to complete the technical, scientific, and analytical work necessary to make permitting, regulatory, and other decisions associated with various water initiatives. It calls for six actions:

1. California WaterFix Environmental Review. The order directs Interior’s Bureau of Reclamation and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) to allocate available resources, as necessary, to complete in a timely manner the Biological Opinions under Section 7 of the Endangered Species Act and a Record of Decision on the environmental documents for California WaterFix. California released a final environmental impact statement and a final environmental impact review on December 30, clearing the way for a final decision on WaterFix, which is the State’s plan to upgrade infrastructure in the estuary where the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers meet before flowing to San Francisco Bay. This will secure water supplies for 25 million people. Interior’s Reclamation was the lead federal agency on the environmental impact statement issued under the National Environmental Policy Act.

Today’s Secretarial Order directs FWS to take all necessary actions to issue an initial Draft Biological Opinion in January 2017 and a final Draft Biological Opinion by March 2017 after incorporating the results of independent scientific peer reviews. A final Biological Opinion is to be issued by April 2017. It specifies that the Department, working with the State and others, will promptly review and consider any information received after publication of the Final EIR/EIS and issuance of the Biological Opinions, and will then be prepared to sign a Record of Decision. This decision will be made by the next Secretary.

2. Collaborative Delta Science Engagement Process. The order directs Reclamation, FWS, and USGS to work collaboratively with the state and other federal agencies to use the Adaptive Management Framework developed as part of California WaterFix to help guide scientific studies and monitoring, assist with Central Valley Project and State Water Project operations, and achieve the co-equal goals for the Bay Delta. New science proposals will be subject to review under various existing science review processes. Implementation of the framework will include an annual review process that develops innovative approaches to the refinement of monitoring and restoration activities that measure species’ populations. Annual review results will be made available to the public.

3. Delta Smelt Resiliency Strategy. This strategy addresses both the risk to the critically endangered Delta smelt—formerly one of the most abundant fish in the Delta—and the risk to water supplies. The order directs Reclamation and FWS to closely coordinate with state and federal agencies and others in implementing all facets of the Strategy. During the next several years, Reclamation will acquire or otherwise make available up to 250,000 acre-feet/year of outflow above current state water quality permit requirements. This additional outflow may include using water transfers, changes in exports from the Bay-Delta, releases from upstream storage, or other measures. Each year FWS must provide to Reclamation and the state a detailed description of specific physical and biological objectives and species needs for Delta Smelt during the spring and summer based on the best available science.

4. Re-initiation of Consultation under the Endangered Species Act on Coordinated Long-Term Operations of the Central Valley Project and State Water Project. The Secretarial order directs Reclamation and FWS to work with other state and federal agencies to carry out the work necessary to complete the recently re-initiated consultation on long term operations of the Central Valley Project and State Water Project.

5. Active Engagement in Development of Voluntary Agreements for Flow Requirements and Coordination on Flows with ESA Requirements. Reclamation and FWS will work with other agencies to provide information to the State Water Resources Control Board as part of its Bay-Delta Plan initiative. This will include coordination with the California Natural Resources Agency in at least the following areas: 1) engagement with key stakeholders to develop voluntary agreements to increase flows and integrate flow and non-flow measures; 2) providing information necessary to establish water quality standards to meet fish, wildlife, and ecosystem goals; and 3) ensuring that requirements developed through the Bay-Delta Plan process are considered in assessing requirements and compliance under the Biological Opinions related to the Central Valley Project and State Water Project.

6. Winter-run Chinook “Species in the Spotlight” Action Plan. The order underscores that implementation of the “Species in the Spotlight” Action Plan is an essential element of reducing both near-term and long-term risks to Winter-run Chinook salmon. This plan was developed by the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) in 2016 as a high priority action plan that would guide allocation of NMFS resources, as well as attract funding from partner agencies and stakeholders. Reclamation and FWS will work with NMFS to incorporate spotlight actions into priorities developed under the Adaptive Management Framework.

 - Steelhead, non-clipped salvage (1/4): 0.4% of ITL.
- Surveys/monitoring
 - Delta smelt, most recent surveys:
 - Fall Midwater Trawl: The 2016 abundance index is eight. No catch in December.
 - December Kodiak Trawl: Caught 227 delta smelt, 214 of which were from station 706 (by Decker Island) (SWG notes, 12/12 and 12/19/16).
 - Bay Study: December survey caught three delta smelt near Three Mile Slough (SWG notes, 12/12/16).
 - Enhanced delta smelt monitoring: "EDSM was in the water last week. Survey locations were in the lower San Joaquin River, Sacramento River, confluence, and downstream of the confluence. A total of 24 Delta Smelt were caught, 14 from the lower San Joaquin River, 13 from the Sacramento River, and 6 from Suisun Bay. The EDSM was not able to conduct the full survey, so abundance estimates based on last week's catch may not represent the entire population. One Delta Smelt had been caught so far this morning [of 1/3], at a high density, low risk site" (SWG notes, 1/3/17).
 - Smelt Larva Survey \(#1\): "SLS #1 is in the field this week. One adult Delta Smelt was caught at station 809 this morning (69 mm)" (SWG notes, 1/3/17).
 - Longfin smelt, most recent surveys:
 - Fall Midwater Trawl: The 2016 abundance index is seven. In December, longfin smelt were collected at stations in Suisun Bay, lower Sacramento, and SDWSC.
 - December Kodiak Trawl: Caught two longfin smelt in Honker Bay; reporting not complete (SWG notes, 12/12/16).
 - Bay Study: Caught four longfin smelt throughout the Delta, with none in San Joaquin River or south Delta (SWG notes, 12/19/16).
- Expectations
 - "Operators indicated the projected OMR Index is expected to be approximately -5,000 cfs this week. A cold storm system is moving through the area today [1/3]. A warmer, wetter system is expected to move through the area by late in the week and over the weekend. High sustained winds are expected throughout the Delta” (SWG notes, 1/3/17).

- “With higher turbidity levels encroached into the south Delta and with the anticipated storms this week, members indicated that OMR flows should be reduced to -2,000 cfs immediately in an effort to minimize the high risk of entrainment and subsequent salvage expected this week. The Working Group is following guidance for entrainment protections from Action 1 (adult Delta Smelt)” (SWG notes, 1/3/17).
- “Continued collection of adult Longfin Smelt indicates that the spawning migration is underway and that spawning has likely began in early December (which will result in hatching in late December or early January. The number of adults migrating to spawn is expected to increase through January and into February, but as long as X_2 remains downstream, proportionally fewer will enter the central Delta to spawn. Summary of Risk: Risk of entrainment is low due to high outflow moving X_2 downstream and a neutral Qwest” (SWG notes, 1/3/17).

DELTA CONDITIONS REPORT, JANUARY 5, 2017

REGULATORY

- Delta smelt

- “With higher turbidity levels encroached into the south Delta and with the anticipated storms this week, members indicated that OMR flows should be reduced to -2,000 cfs immediately in an effort to minimize the high risk of entrainment and subsequent salvage expected this week. The Working Group is following guidance for entrainment protections from Action 1 (adult Delta Smelt)” (SWG notes, 1/3/17).
- See below for relevant RPAs:

2008 BiOp RPA section	Trigger stage	Trigger month	Trigger criteria	WY 2017 information	Regulation
Action 1: Adult migration and entrainment (first flush) (RPA Component 1)	A	Dec. 1 - Dec. 20	Smelt Working Group may recommend a start date for the Action to the Service, based on conditions.		"Limit exports so that the average daily OMR flow is no more negative than -2000 cfs for a total duration of 14 days, with a 5-day running average no more negative than -2,500 cfs (within 25 percent)" (p. 329). SWG can recommend delayed start or interruption based on conditions affecting entrainment vulnerability.
	B	After Dec. 20	(1) Three-day average turbidity at Prisoner's Point, Holland Cut, and Victoria Canal are each > 12 NTU. (2) Three days of DS salvage at either facility. (3) Cumulative daily salvage ≥ 1/2 prior year FMWT value.	SWG recommended OMR flow reduction to -2,000 cfs (SWG notes, 1/3/17). Trigger for (3) is salvage of 4 fish.
	Offramp	.	(1) Water temp reaches 12°C based on three-station daily mean at Mossdale, Antioch, Rio Vista. (2) Onset of spawning (presence spent females in SKT, Banks, or Jones).		Action 3 triggered, unless Service decides Action 2 should be implemented instead.
Action 2: Adult migration and entrainment (RPA Component 1)	.	.	Begins after Action 1. If Action 1 not implemented, SWG recommends start date.		Range of net daily OMR flows no more negative than -1,250 to -5,000 cfs. Specific flows recommended by SWG in weekly recommendations, based on conditions. Guidelines discussed in BiOp. OMR flow based on 14-day running average with 5-day running average within 25% of required OMR flow. OMR flow requirements do not apply when three-day flow average is ≥90,000 cfs in Sacramento River at Rio Vista and 10,000 cfs in San Joaquin River at Vernalis.
	Offramp	.	(1) Water temp reaches 12°C based on three-station daily mean at Mossdale, Antioch, Rio Vista. (2) Onset of spawning (presence spent females in SKT, Banks, or Jones).		Action 3 initiated.

- Longfin smelt

- “The Smelt Working Group has no advice for Longfin Smelt: Advice is not warranted at this time given current conditions” (SWG notes, 1/3/17).

- See below for relevant RPAs:

2009 Longfin smelt ITP Condition	Trigger stage	Trigger month	Trigger	WY 2017 information	Regulation
5.1 (OMR flow)	.	Dec. - Feb.	(1) Cumulative salvage index (=cumulative combined salvage/FMWT index) >5 OR (2) Review of abundance and distribution survey data and other biological factors affecting entrainment risk of adults indicates OMR flow advice warranted.	Cumulative combined salvage threshold is >35 adults.	SWG provides OMR flow advice to WOMT and Director of DFG weekly. Condition not likely to occur in many years. Would not trigger or would cease if Sacramento at Rio Vista > 55,000 cfs or San Joaquin at Vernalis > 8,000 cfs; retriggered at 40,000 and 5,000 cfs, respectively.
	Offramp		Spawning detected.		Condition 5.2 begins.
5.2 (OMR flow)	.	Jan. - June	Flow advice warranted when SLS or 20mm Survey sampling period results in (1) LFS larvae or juveniles found in 8 or more of the 12 stations in the central and south Delta (stations 809, 812, 815, 901, 906, 910, 912, 914, 915, 918, 919). (2) Catch per tow > 15 LFS larvae or juveniles in 4 or more of above 12 stations.		SWG or DFG SWG personnel provides OMR flow advice to WOMT and Director weekly. OMR flow advice will be between -1,250 and -5,000 cfs and based on survey data. Likely scenarios: Jan.-Mar. (high entrainment risk)= -1,250 to -5,000 cfs; Apr. - May (medium risk)= -2,000 to -5,000 cfs; June (low risk)= -5,000 cfs. Would not trigger or would cease if Sacramento at Rio Vista > 55,000 cfs or San Joaquin at Vernalis > 8,000 cfs; retriggered at 40,000 and 5,000 cfs, respectively.
5.3 (Barker Slough Pumping Plant)	.	Jan. 15 - Mar.	Dry and critically dry years. Detection of larval longfin smelt at station 716.		SWG or DFG SWG provides weekly Barker Slough Pumping Plant operations advice to WOMT and Director, based on survey data and other biological factors affecting entrainment risk and detection of larval LFS at Station 716. Advice for maximum 7-day average must be ≤ 50 cfs.

- Salmonids

- See below for relevant RPAs:

2009 BiOp RPA section	Trigger stage	Trigger month	Trigger criteria	WY 2017 information	Regulation
IV.1.1 (Monitoring and alerts to trigger changes in DCC operations)	"First alert"	Oct. - Apr.	(1) Mean daily flow >95 cfs in Mill or Deer Creek OR (2) Starting in Oct., an increase in tributary flow of > 50% over levels immediately preceding flow spike--> indicates cues for emigration initiation.		Either criterion can trigger the alert. Alert signals that gate operations might need alteration in near future to avoid diverting outmigrating Chinook.
	"Second alert"		(1) Water temp < 13.5°C at Knights Landing AND (2) Flows greater than 7,500 cfs at Wilkins Slough--> associated with recovering emigrating Chinook at Knights Landing.		Alert triggered when both second alert criteria met.
IV.1.2 (DCC gate operations)	N/A	Dec. 15-Jan. 31	Gates may be opened for up to 5 days for NMFS-approved experiment, or for one-time event between Dec. 15-Jan. 5 when needed to maintain WQ in response to high tide coupled with low inflow.	Gates are closed.	Gates closed, dependent on triggers.
		Feb. - May 20	N/A		Gates closed per D1641.
		May 21 - June 15	N/A		Closed up to 14 days per D1641.
IV.2.3 (OMR flow management)	First stage	Jan. 1 - June 15	(1) (With rapid genetic analysis occurring) Daily SWP/CVP genetic Winter-run Chinook salmon loss density > WR ITL/2000, with minimum of 2.5 fish/TAF	Not met, as of 1/4	OMR flows limited to -5,000 cfs based on 14-day running average of tidally filtered flow, with 5-day running average ≤ 25% more negative than targeted 14-day average requirement. Reductions when any trigger criterion is met--> Average net OMR flow of -3,500 cfs for minimum 5 consecutive days. Five-day running average OMR flows ≤ 25% more negative than targeted flow level at any time during 5-day running average period (e.g., -4,375 cfs average over five days). Resumption of -5000 cfs flows allowed when average daily fish density is less than trigger density for last 3 days of export reduction. Alternate regulation is immediate reduction of exports to 1,500 cfs until required OMR limit met.
			(2) (With rapid genetic analysis occurring) Daily SWP/CVP genetic Winter-run Chinook salmon loss > 8 fish/TAF multiplied by volume exported (TAF)	Not met, as of 1/4
			(3) CNFH CWT LFR or LSNFH CWT WR cumulative loss > 0.5% for each surrogate release group	Not met, as of 12/21
			(4) Daily loss wild steelhead > 8 fish/TAF multiplied by volume exported (TAF)	Not met, as of 1/4
	Second stage (high concern)	Jan. 1 - June 15	(1) (With rapid genetic analysis occurring) Daily SWP/CVP genetic Winter-run Chinook salmon loss density > WR ITL/1000, with minimum of 5.0 fish/TAF		OMR flows limited to -5,000 cfs based on 14-day running average of tidally filtered flow, with 5-day running average ≤ 25% more negative than targeted 14-day average requirement. Reductions when any trigger criterion is met--> Average net OMR flow of -2,500 cfs for minimum 5 consecutive days. Resumption of -5,000 cfs allowed when average daily fish density less than trigger density for last 3 days of export reduction. Alternate regulation is immediate reduction of exports to 1,500 cfs until required OMR limit met.
			(2) (With rapid genetic analysis occurring) Daily SWP/CVP genetic Winter-run Chinook salmon loss > 12 fish/TAF multiplied by volume exported (TAF)
	End of triggers	Jan. 1 - June 15	Action continued until June 15 or when average daily water temperature at Mossdale > 22°C (72°F) for seven consecutive days in June.		Regulations lifted when trigger for end of OMR regulation is met.
IV.3 (Reduce likelihood of entrainment or salvage at export facilities)	"Third alert"	Jan. - Apr.	Catch index > 10 fish/d (Nov. - Feb.) or > 15 fish/d (Mar. - Apr.) from either Knights Landing or Sacramento Catch Index.	Indices are <10 (Bay Delta Live, 1/5)	In conjunction with two DCC-closure triggers (IV.1.1), this alert signals that export operations might need to change in near future due to large numbers juvenile Chinook migrating into upper Delta. Implement Action IV.2.3 (restrict OMR flows rather than having set levels of exporting).

DELTA SMELT

- Salvage:
 - "As stated last week, members are basing their assessment of risk on entrainment into the south Delta, rather than into the facilities" (SWG notes, 1/3/17). See SWG notes for discussion of turbidity, delta smelt detections, and spawning migration. "Advice Framework OMR Level Risk Ranking and Discussion: The above discussion points influenced and contributed to all three flow ranges described below: OMR Flow of -1,250 to -2,000 cfs:

moderate risk of entrainment (some members indicated a high risk of entrainment)...OMR Flow of -2,000 to -3,500 cfs: high risk of entrainment...OMR Flow of -3,500 to -5,000 cfs: high risk of entrainment..." (SWG notes, 1/3/17). All risk rankings had associated descriptions of risk factors, salvage, unknowns, turbidity, and persistence of risk.

Figure: Recent delta smelt salvage (adults and juveniles) at both facilities (none in time period shown). Data through 1/4, graph from CDFW.

	Combined salvage as of 1/4/16	Concern level for WY 2017	ITL for WY 2017
Adult	0	Not yet known
Juvenile	0	Not yet known

- Enhanced Delta Smelt Monitoring:
 - "EDSM was in the water last week. Survey locations were in the lower San Joaquin River, Sacramento River, confluence, and downstream of the confluence. A total of 24 Delta Smelt were caught, 14 from the lower San Joaquin River, 13 from the Sacramento River, and 6 from Suisun Bay. The EDSM was not able to conduct the full survey, so abundance estimates based on last week's catch may not represent the entire population. One Delta Smelt had been caught so far this morning [of 1/3], at a high density, low risk site" (SWG notes, 1/3/17). See SWG notes for additional discussion on use of EDSM results. "Members also requested that the Service modify the EDSM survey protocols for this week (and possibly next week) to include sampling stations in the Old River corridor, since Delta Smelt presence and changes in density in the Old River are evidence of movement into the South Delta: a primary indicator of salvage risk, and a primary response variable targeted by SWG management recommendations” (SWG notes, 1/3/17).

- Fall Midwater Trawl:

- “The 2016 abundance index (8) is the second lowest in FMWT history (Figure 1). Seven Delta Smelt were collected at index stations in the lower Sacramento River (n=7) in November. No Delta Smelt were collected in September, October, or December” (White, J. 2016. Subject: Fall Midwater Trawl 2016 Annual Fish Abundance Summary. CDFW memo.)

- December Spring Kodiak Trawl:

- Caught 227 delta smelt (SWG notes, 12/19/16), 214 of which were from station 706 (lower Sacramento River by Decker Island) (SWG notes, 12/12/16).

The number of adults migrating to spawn is expected to increase through January and into February, but as long as X_2 remains downstream, proportionally fewer will enter the central Delta to spawn. Summary of Risk: Risk of entrainment is low due to high outflow moving X_2 downstream and a neutral Qwest” (SWG notes, 1/3/17).

Hi Tom,

Unfortunately, Feb. 1 is a date that I indicated I would be unavailable as I am going to be out of the country. I have been trying to move some things around but have thus far been unsuccessful in order to be there on Feb.1, although it still might be possible. In the meantime, I wanted to ask if it would be acceptable to you if Sam Boxerman from our office attended instead and I will try to call in by phone for parts of it (I currently fly back that day). I should have a better sense by the end of the week if I can get back to Sacramento in time but still wanted to have a back-up plan.

Thank you for your consideration,

Hello Carmela,

I would order for a total of 17. I know that our Board President will be there for sure and perhaps 1- 2 more, although I've asked twice for confirmation and haven't received one. So I think 17 will be fine. Thanks, Carmela ☺

Hi Sam,

Please see the information below.

Hi Karen, Happy New Year! I hope you are well. I have a conflict on Feb.1 - I was unable to move that other conflict on Feb. 1 (a mini-honeymoon) - so Sam in our office has graciously agreed to participate. Can you please include him on any further communications. I checked with Tom to ensure this was ok.

Hi Sam,

Please see the information below.

Hi Karen, Happy New Year! I hope you are well. I have a conflict on Feb.1 - I was unable to move that other conflict on Feb. 1 (a mini-honeymoon) - so Sam in our office has graciously agreed to participate. Can you please include him on any further communications. I checked with Tom to ensure this was ok.

Thank you,
Catherine

Dear Rick:

Attached is information about Dr. Rob Roy Ramey (from Colorado) whom I initially met during my work in DC on proposed ESA Amendments during the George W. Bush Administration.

Rob had close contacts with political appointees Deputy FWS Director Julie MacDonald and Asst. Secy. for Fish, Wildlife and Parks Judge Manson at the Department of Interior (both of whom will also speak for and support Rob), and he helped me immensely with our joint ESA amendment effort within the Bush Administration.

Rob has done fabulous work in the scientific arena throughout his distinguished career, including splendid field research on elephants in Namibia and bighorn sheep in Mexico. He also has unusually valuable experience working with Congress and testifying on the Hill. Please see his cover letter and resume which are attached. I've had numerous professional dealings with him over the years; consequently, I can personally certify that he's "one of us" in his political and managerial philosophy and ability.

Rob contacted me about his interest in serving at DOI, and he would be perfect for any high level appointment at DOI, including Science Advisor (if such a position still exists), Deputy Asst. Secretary for Fish, Wildlife and Parks, or even FWS Director.

I can think of no other person who would be more suited for serving at DOI, and I give him my highest recommendation.

Best regards, Bill

Dear Bill,

As per our conversation last week, I have attached my cover letter and CV, expressing my interest in serving in the President Elect's Department of Interior. I submitted my online application this morning. Please feel free to pass on this information, along with a measure of our shared commitment and doggedness for bringing about needed changes to the Endangered Species Act and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Sincerely,

Dear Transition Team,

29 November 2016

I am interested in serving in the Department of Interior of the President Elect because it represents a rare opportunity to strategically change policies and approaches to decision making at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service involving the Endangered Species Act (ESA). Since 1980, when I began my work with threatened and endangered wildlife, I have seen the ESA morph into a political tool for controlling land use that has been increasingly exploited by environmental litigants, activists, and like-minded policy makers at the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. During the Obama administration the situation has worsened, decisions have become less transparent, more harmful to species that the Act was to protect, and increasingly at odds with the rights of citizens. I would like an opportunity to help change this situation, and have testified three times before the House Resources Committees on specific reforms to the ESA and its implementation by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

My background

I earned my Bachelor's degree in Biology and Natural History from the University of California Santa Cruz, my Master's degree in Wildlife Ecology from Yale University, and my Ph.D. in Ecology and Evolutionary Biology from Cornell University. My postdoctoral experience included research at the University of Colorado, Boulder; the Center for Reproduction of Endangered Species at the San Diego Zoo; and University of San Diego's White Mountain Research Station. During this time, I conducted field and laboratory research on peregrine falcons, California condors, mountain sheep, rainforest birds, and African elephants.

Beginning in 2000, I served as the Chair of Zoology and Curator of Vertebrate Zoology at the Denver Museum of Nature & Science. It was my research team's discovery in 2004 that the so-called Prebles meadow jumping mouse was not a valid subspecies, and therefore, did not warrant protection under the ESA. That discovery launched me deep into similar scientific issues involving the ESA. My subsequent testimony before Congressional Committee on needed reforms to the ESA led to considerable consternation among some pro-ESA listing advocates. Our findings have recently been confirmed by independent research.

In 2006, I served as a consulting Science Advisor to the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Fish and Wildlife and Parks at the Department of Interior. And in 2007, I founded (with my wife and colleague, Dr. Laura M. Brown) Wildlife Science International, Inc., and began consulting full time on scientific issues involving the Endangered Species Act, as well as other wildlife laws and treaties. Clients have included: state, county, and city governments; tribal governments; law firms; private landowners; businesses and trade groups; recreational organizations (hiking, horseback riding, rock climbing, hunting, and off highway vehicle), and scientific and legal NGOs. Recent projects have included research, consulting, and/or expert testimony on scientific issues surrounding the greater sage grouse, Gunnison sage grouse, delta smelt, hookless cactus, boreal toad, bald and golden eagles, desert bighorn sheep in the Peninsular Ranges of Southern California, argali sheep, and African elephants. Since 2009, I have also served as a Science Advisor for the Center for Environmental Science, Accuracy, and Reliability (CESAR).

In addition to my consulting work I have an active research program, including two long-term field research projects, one in Namibia (on elephants), and the other in Mexico (on bighorn sheep). I publish the results of research in peer reviewed scientific journals.

As stated during my 2013 and 2014 Congressional testimony, if I could contribute to one fundamental change to the ESA, it would be: to ensure that prior to the USFWS relying on any study in its decision making process, all the data used in that study must be archived in a publicly accessible data archive to allow independent, third party reanalysis. Otherwise, the agency cannot rely on the study. I have a few other suggestions as well that I would be glad to share these.

Thank you for considering my application,

Dear Mr. Pope,

There has been no correspondence or communication from Westlands Water District regarding the PCL Public Records Request dated February 15, 2017. The required 10 day response time for the release of the request documents has long passed.

Pursuant to the California Records Act (Govt. Code 6250-6270), there are no provisions that provide a public agency such as Westlands Water District to delay or obstruct the inspection or release of public records. Over a month has passed since the proposed promise release, more than two months has passed since the original request.

Please provide the public documents requested in items 1-7 in the attached February 15, 2017, request without further delay.

Dear Mr. Pope,

I noticed Westlands Water District cashed check #1280 for PRA document charges that had already been paid. I was wondering about the reason for the double billing.

Attached, please find a Public Records request from the Planning and Conservation League. If these documents can be provided electronically this would be preferable. Please use the funds made available from Check #1280 cashed already to fund any portion of this request.

Hi Jeremy:

I tried phoning your office a few minutes ago and left a voicemail that I would provide you a statement regarding your media request about new storage projects. Here is our statement:

Westlands Water District supports the use of Prop. 1 funds for new surface storage projects. This year is a perfect example of how additional surface water storage facilities would benefit the people of the state in conserving water during wet periods for use in dry periods. When the voters passed the bond measure, it was universally understood that money in the bond would be used for this purpose. In particular, Westlands supports the efforts of residents and agencies in the San Joaquin Valley and the Sacramento Valley to obtain Prop. 1 bond funds to construct Temperance Flat and Sites reservoirs.

Feel free to contact me if you need additional information.

Re: PCL Follow-up to the February 15, 2017 Public Records Request For Records Re: Services, Contracts and Retainers for David Bernhardt, Julie MacDonald and Steven Ding.

Dear Mr. Pope,

Thank you for your reply of March 10, 2017 regarding the PCL February 15, 2017 PRA request. You indicated that the documents regarding the contractual services, letters of agreement, and/or retainers for:

1. The one year payment of $1,006,197.82 paid to Steven Ding (Congressman Pombo's former Chief of Staff) and
2. Details regarding the payment of hundreds of thousands of dollars to Mr. David Bernhardt (Brownstein partner and US Interior employee) and
3. Julie MacDonald (Environmental Strategies Inc. and former Brownstein and US Interior employee)

may not be 'available as a result of the Districts records retention policy or may be exempt from disclosure according to Section 6254.'

In recognition of Sunshine Week, we urge Westlands to be transparent and cooperative instead of apparently trying to conceal the details of these contracting arrangements and the services provided. Undoubtedly these previous federal employees provided invaluable services to Westlands. [A sample of some of types of records--the annual Budget Consultants Report and Quarterly Consultant Status Reports-- being sought in addition to the specific contracts, retainers or letters of agreement, along with the other documents related to these consultants, is attached for your convenience.]

Westlands, the largest federal irrigation district in the nation, enjoys substantial public benefits by which the taxpayer pays for much of WWD's water and power rates and receives reduced borrowing costs afforded a state public agency through municipal borrowing provisions. Clearly, these substantial employment consulting contracts, and the reports regarding the services provided to the Westlands' Board should be available to the public. What is Westlands' trying to hide?

The more than 45 days for a response seems unnecessarily lengthy and hopefully the proposed response deadline of March 31, 2017 can be moved forward to this week so we receive the requested documents by March 24.

Thank you for your consideration. Dear Mr. Pope,

There has been no correspondence or communication from Westlands Water District regarding the PCL Public Records Request dated February 15, 2017. The required 10 day response time for the release of the request documents has long passed.

Pursuant to the California Records Act (Govt. Code 6250-6270), there are no provisions that provide a public agency such as Westlands Water District to delay or obstruct the inspection or release of public records. Over a month has passed since the proposed promise release, more than two months has passed since the original request.

Please provide the public documents requested in items 1-7 in the attached February 15, 2017, request without further delay.

Dear Mr. Pope,

I noticed Westlands Water District cashed check #1280 for PRA document charges that had already been paid. I was wondering about the reason for the double billing.

Attached, please find a Public Records request from the Planning and Conservation League. If these documents can be provided electronically this would be preferable. Please use the funds made available from Check #1280 cashed already to fund any portion of this request.

Re: PCL Follow-up to the February 15, 2017 Public Records Request For Records Re: Services, Contracts and Retainers for David Bernhardt, Julie MacDonald and Steven Ding.

Dear Mr. Pope,

Thank you for your reply of March 10, 2017 regarding the PCL February 15, 2017 PRA request. You indicated that the documents regarding the contractual services, letters of agreement, and/or retainers for:

1. The one year payment of $1,006,197.82 paid to Steven Ding (Congressman Pombo's former Chief of Staff) and
2. Details regarding the payment of hundreds of thousands of dollars to Mr. David Bernhardt (Brownstein partner and US Interior employee) and may not be 'available as a result of the Districts records retention policy or may be exempt from disclosure according to Section 6254.'
3. Julie MacDonald (Environmental Strategies Inc. and former Brownstein and US Interior employee)

In recognition of Sunshine Week, we urge Westlands to be transparent and cooperative instead of apparently trying to conceal the details of these contracting arrangements and the services provided. Undoubtedly these previous federal employees provided invaluable services to Westlands. [A sample of some of types of records--the annual Budget Consultants Report and Quarterly Consultant Status Reports-- being sought in addition to the specific contracts, retainers or letters of agreement, along with the other documents related to these consultants, is attached for your convenience.]

Westlands, the largest federal irrigation district in the nation, enjoys substantial public benefits by which the taxpayer pays for much of WWD's water and power rates and receives reduced borrowing costs afforded a state public agency through municipal borrowing provisions. Clearly, these substantial employment consulting contracts, and the reports regarding the services provided to the Westlands' Board should be available to the public. What is Westlands' trying to hide?

The more than 45 days for a response seems unnecessarily lengthy and hopefully the proposed response deadline of March 31, 2017 can be moved forward to this week so we receive the requested documents by March 24.

Thank you for your consideration. Dear Mr. Pope,

There has been no correspondence or communication from Westlands Water District regarding the PCL Public Records Request dated February 15, 2017. The required 10 day response time for the release of the request documents has long passed.

Pursuant to the California Records Act (Govt. Code 6250-6270), there are no provisions that provide a public agency such as Westlands Water District to delay or obstruct the inspection or release of public records. Over a month has passed since the proposed promise release, more than two months has passed since the original request.

Please provide the public documents requested in items 1-7 in the attached February 15, 2017, request without further delay.

Dear Mr. Pope,

I noticed Westlands Water District cashed check #1280 for PRA document charges that had already been paid. I was wondering about the reason for the double billing.

Attached, please find a Public Records request from the Planning and Conservation League. If these documents can be provided electronically this would be preferable. Please use the funds made available from Check #1280 cashed already to fund any portion of this request.

Re: PCL Follow-up to the February 15, 2017 Public Records Request For Records Re: Services, Contracts and Retainers for David Bernhardt, Julie MacDonald and Steven Ding.

Dear Mr. Pope,

Thank you for your reply of March 10, 2017 regarding the PCL February 15, 2017 PRA request. You indicated that the documents regarding the contractual services, letters of agreement, and/or retainers for:

1. The one year payment of $1,006,197.82 paid to Steven Ding (Congressman Pombo's former Chief of Staff) and
2. Details regarding the payment of hundreds of thousands of dollars to Mr. David Bernhardt (Brownstein partner and US Interior employee) and may not be 'available as a result of the Districts records retention policy or may be exempt from disclosure according to Section 6254.'
3. Julie MacDonald (Environmental Strategies Inc. and former Brownstein and US Interior employee)

In recognition of Sunshine Week, we urge Westlands to be transparent and cooperative instead of apparently trying to conceal the details of these contracting arrangements and the services provided. Undoubtedly these previous federal employees provided invaluable services to Westlands. [A sample of some of types of records--the annual Budget Consultants Report and Quarterly Consultant Status Reports-- being sought in addition to the specific contracts, retainers or letters of agreement, along with the other documents related to these consultants, is attached for your convenience.]

Westlands, the largest federal irrigation district in the nation, enjoys substantial public benefits by which the taxpayer pays for much of WWD's water and power rates and receives reduced borrowing costs afforded a state public agency through municipal borrowing provisions. Clearly, these substantial employment consulting contracts, and the reports regarding the services provided to the Westlands' Board should be available to the public. What is Westlands' trying to hide?

The more than 45 days for a response seems unnecessarily lengthy and hopefully the proposed response deadline of March 31, 2017 can be moved forward to this week so we receive the requested documents by March 24.

Thank you for your consideration. Please provide these documents [by documents we mean all emails, letters, reports, text, either written or verbal forms of communication] electronically to avoid copying charges. The information is being request on behalf of NGOs that have no commercial interest to be gained from the information and they desire the information for educational purposes. If you have any questions, please call me at 530 550 0219. We did not receive your initial response by mail. So please send your response electronically as well.

Re: PCL Follow-up to the February 15, 2017 Public Records Request For Records Re: Services, Contracts and Retainers for David Bernhardt, Julie MacDonald and Steven Ding.

Dear Mr. Pope,

Thank you for your reply of March 10, 2017 regarding the PCL February 15, 2017 PRA request. You indicated that the documents regarding the contractual services, letters of agreement, and/or retainers for:

1. The one year payment of $1,006,197.82 paid to Steven Ding (Congressman Pombo's former Chief of Staff) and
2. Details regarding the payment of hundreds of thousands of dollars to Mr. David Bernhardt (Brownstein partner and US Interior employee) and may not be 'available as a result of the Districts records retention policy or may be exempt from disclosure according to Section 6254.'
3. Julie MacDonald (Environmental Strategies Inc. and former Brownstein and US Interior employee)

In recognition of Sunshine Week, we urge Westlands to be transparent and cooperative instead of apparently trying to conceal the details of these contracting arrangements and the services provided. Undoubtedly these previous federal employees provided invaluable services to Westlands. [A sample of some of types of records--the annual Budget Consultants Report and Quarterly Consultant Status Reports-- being sought in addition to the specific contracts, retainers or letters of agreement, along with the other documents related to these consultants, is attached for your convenience.]

Westlands, the largest federal irrigation district in the nation, enjoys substantial public benefits by which the taxpayer pays for much of WWD's water and power rates and receives reduced borrowing costs afforded a state public agency through municipal borrowing provisions. Clearly, these substantial employment consulting contracts, and the reports regarding the services provided to the Westlands' Board should be available to the public. What is Westlands' trying to hide?

The more than 45 days for a response seems unnecessarily lengthy and hopefully the proposed response deadline of March 31, 2017 can be moved forward to this week so we receive the requested documents by March 24.

Thank you for your consideration. Please provide these documents [by documents we mean all emails, letters, reports, text, either written or verbal forms of communication] electronically to avoid copying charges. The information is being request on behalf of NGOs that have no commercial interest to be gained from the information and they desire the information for educational purposes. If you have any questions, please call me at 530 550 0219. We did not receive your initial response by mail. So please send your response electronically as well.

Dear Mr. Pope,

There has been no correspondence or communication from Westlands Water District regarding the PCL Public Records Request dated February 15, 2017. The required 10 day response time for the release of the request documents has long passed.

Pursuant to the California Records Act (Govt. Code 6250-6270), there are no provisions that provide a public agency such as Westlands Water District to delay or obstruct the inspection or release of public records. Over a month has passed since the proposed promise release, more than two months has passed since the original request.

Please provide the public documents requested in items 1-7 in the attached February 15, 2017, request without further delay.

Dear Mr. Pope,

I noticed Westlands Water District cashed check #1280 for PRA document charges that had already been paid. I was wondering about the reason for the double billing.

Attached, please find a Public Records request from the Planning and Conservation League. If these documents can be provided electronically this would be preferable. Please use the funds made available from Check #1280 cashed already to fund any portion of this request.

The West has a tricky, expensive water problem – and even solving it is controversial

BY MICHAEL DOYLE
mdoyle@mcclatchydc.com

WASHINGTON

A controversial California irrigation drainage deal designed to resolve one of the West's trickiest, most expensive and longest-running water problems won approval from a key House of Representatives panel Thursday.

But the debate – and uproar over the proposal – is only beginning, and its long-term fate is uncertain.

On a mostly party-line 23-16 vote, the House Natural Resources Committee approved the bill to settle the irrigation dispute between the mammoth Westlands Water District and the federal government. The measure relieves Westlands of a big construction debt, and in turn shifts the burden for solving the toxic drainage problem from the government to the water district.

ADVERTISING

“Once authorized by law, the settlement agreement . . . will end the decades of frustration that began when the United States government decided in the 1980s not to uphold the promise to provide drainage service,” said Rep. Jim Costa, D-Fresno.

Opponents counter that Westlands is the only winner in the legislation.

“It doesn’t adequately protect the taxpayer,” said Rep. Jared Huffman, D-San Rafael, “and it certainly doesn’t protect the environment or the interests of other water users.”

Authored by Rep. David Valadao, R-Hanford, whose congressional district includes the 600,000-acre Westlands district, the bill unquestionably involves a lot of money and follows a legacy of poisoned birds and legal combat.

The district’s debt to be forgiven has been estimated at around $375 million, while the cost of providing drainage is pegged at more than $3 billion.

The Rhode Island-sized Westlands district, in the southern San Joaquin Valley, would also receive favorable new water contracts under the settlement, and in return would retire 100,000 acres.

WE MUST LOOK AT THE FACTS ON THE GROUND TO UNDERSTAND THE IMPORTANCE OF THE LEGISLATION.

Rep. Jim Costa, D-Fresno

The irrigation drainage was promised beginning with the 1960 legislation authorizing the Central Valley Project's San Luis Unit, but only about 82 of the planned 188 miles were built before the drain stopped at Kesterson Reservoir in Merced County.

Without drainage, otherwise-fertile soil becomes poisoned by a buildup of salty water. The accumulation of selenium-tainted groundwater at Kesterson killed and deformed thousands of birds in the mid-1980s.

The settlement covered by Valadao's bill was originally reached between Westlands and the Obama administration, which faced a court order to provide drainage. The Trump administration essentially inherited the settlement, prompting one of several amendments from Huffman on Thursday.

Attorney David Bernhardt, who was formerly a registered lobbyist for Westlands, is reportedly a top candidate to serve as deputy secretary of the Interior Department. Citing Bernhardt, Huffman proposed that former Westlands lobbyists or officials who join the administration not be allowed to work on the drainage issue for five years.

"This is the same water district that has long had a revolving door with Republican administrations," Huffman said, adding that "a bad deal should not be made worse by toxic conflicts of interest."

The committee rejected Huffman's amendment by 16-24.

While the 19-page bill is now poised for passage through the Republican-controlled House, its fate in the Senate remains uncertain.

Neither of California's senators, Democrats Dianne Feinstein and Kamala Harris, has yet taken a public position on the irrigation drainage settlement, whose details were first revealed 19 months ago. Without at least one of the state's senators picking up the bill, it's very unlikely to reach the White House.

The House panel also approved legislation by Rep. Tom McClintock, R-Elk Grove, designed to coordinate the state and federal permitting processes for surface water storage projects on federal lands.

RE: David Bernhardt Nominated for Deputy Secretary of Interior

Federal Affairs Committee,

We are very pleased to announce that David Bernhardt has been nominated to serve as the Deputy Secretary of the Department of Interior. This position is the number two position in the Department.

Mr. Bernhardt grew up in Western Colorado and has a strong background on resources issues especially water issues. Mr. Bernhardt is also a friend to NWRA, he was one of the featured speakers on our Inside Washington Panel at the 2015 Annual Conference and also attended last summer's Western Water Seminar. We are excited to work with David in his new role and are hopeful that he will receive a swift Senate confirmation.

The Release from the Department of the Interior is below. Following the Interior release we are also providing a copy of a Greenwire story that was published this afternoon. The article contains quotes from several environmental groups expressing concern about Mr. Bernhardt. We believe that NWRA should weigh in and support Mr. Bernhardt with a letter to the Senate and a press release. We will send drafts of these out for review when they are complete.

Secretary Zinke Applauds Nomination of David Bernhardt as Deputy Secretary of the Interior

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

4/28/2017
Last edited 4/28/2017

WASHINGTON - President Donald Trump today announced the nomination of Department of the Interior veteran David Bernhardt as the Interior's Deputy Secretary.

"I am excited to announce the President and I have selected Dave Bernhardt to help me lead the Interior Department," said Secretary Zinke. "Bernhardt's extensive experience serving under former Interior Secretaries Norton and Kempthorne and his esteemed legal career is exactly what is needed to help streamline government and make the Interior and our public lands work for the American economy."

"Dave Bernhardt is an excellent choice to be Deputy Secretary. After I became Secretary of the Interior, Dave was unanimously confirmed by the Senate to be the Solicitor, Interior's highest ranking legal officer. Dave provided wide counsel based on thoroughly understanding issues being decided. He is thoughtful and fair. The Solicitor's Office, Interior political and career staff and the Department's diverse stakeholders respected Dave's intellect, leadership and management skill. I commend President Trump and Secretary Zinke for selecting Dave to help manage a Department that has operations in all 50 states and many parts of the world," said former Secretary of the Interior Dirk Kempthorne.

Bernhardt is an avid hunter and fisherman and recently served on the Board of Game and Inland Fisheries for the Commonwealth of Virginia. He has previously served as the United States Commissioner to the International Boundary Commission, U.S. and Canada.

From 2001 and 2009, he held several positions within the Department of the Interior, including serving as Solicitor. Previously he served then-Secretary Norton as a deputy solicitor, deputy chief of staff and counselor to the Secretary, and as director of congressional and legislative affairs and counselor to the Secretary. Currently, Bernhardt chairs the natural resource law practice at Brownstein, Hyatt Farber and Schreck, LLP.

A native of Rifle, Colorado, Bernhardt earned a B.A. from the University of Northern Colorado. He graduated with honors from the George Washington University National Law Center and is admitted to various state and federal court bars. He is married to Gena Bernhardt. They have two children, and reside in Arlington, Virginia.

The position of Deputy Secretary of the Department of the Interior is the Chief Operating Office of the Department and is subject to confirmation by the United States Senate.

Trump picks former lobbyist for No. 2 slot

Corbin Hiar, E&E News reporter

President Trump this morning nominated a former lobbyist who initially ran his Interior transition team to be the department's second-highest-ranking official.

David Bernhardt, a veteran of both Capitol Hill and the George W. Bush administration's Interior Department, is chairman of the natural resources department at the law and lobbying firm Brownstein Hyatt Farber Schreck. Until earlier this year, he advocated for the powerful Westlands Water District, a government utility that provides water for California farmers, and Access Industries, a conglomerate owned by a Soviet-born billionaire.

Bernhardt has been considered the leading contender for the department's deputy secretary position ever since Doug Domenech, another Bush-era Interior staffer, took over the transition effort late last year (Greenwire, Jan. 30).

"Bernhardt's extensive experience serving under [Interior] Secretary [Gale] Norton and his legal career is exactly what is needed to help streamline government and make the Interior and our public lands work for the American economy," Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke said in a press release. He noted that Bernhardt's expertise ranges from the Endangered Species Act to outer continental shelf leases and from mining royalties to Indian affairs.

Bernhardt's former boss also praised his nomination.

"After I became Secretary of the Interior, Dave was unanimously confirmed by the Senate to be the Solicitor, Interior's highest ranking legal officer," Dirk Kempthorne, Norton's successor, said in a statement. "Dave provided wide counsel based on thoroughly understanding issues being decided. He is thoughtful and fair."

Bernhardt will need to be vetted by lawmakers again before he can serve as Zinke's No. 2 and is likely to face tough questions about his former clients and Bush administration record.

"David Bernhardt is a walking conflict of interest," Center for Western Priorities Media Director Aaron Weiss said in a statement. "If he does not recuse himself from working on issues he has profited from as a lobbyist, he will be the embodiment of the Washington swamp - taking a high-level government job to help his private sector partners cash in. If Bernhardt does recuse himself from all his conflicts, he'll have nothing to work on at Interior."

Sen. Dianne Feinstein (D-Calif.) has raised concerns about recent moves by the Bureau of Land Management that could benefit Cadiz Inc., a pipeline company represented by Brownstein Hyatt. Cadiz wants to build a 43-mile-long pipeline and pump water from an aquifer under land the company owns to 100,000 households in Southern California, but Feinstein and conservation groups fear it could dry out the Mojave National Preserve (Greenwire, April 6).

The Western Values Project, a government watchdog group based in Zinke's hometown of Whitefish, Mont., is also suing Interior to obtain documents related to Bernhardt's tenure as the department's solicitor. During that time, the agency was hit by several scandals involving doctored scientific reports and disgraced lobbyist Jack Abramoff (Greenwire, April 25).

Bernhardt's previous Senate confirmation process also included a few hurdles.

Then-Sen. Jeff Bingaman (D-N.M.) said that year that he believed Bernhardt was not a good pick, claiming the nomination is "not in keeping with the level of qualifications most people would expect for the Interior solicitor" (E&E News PM, March 15, 2006).

Sen. Ron Wyden (D-Ore.) then slowed down the process with a procedural move, citing concerns about a rural schools grant program (E&E Daily, Sept. 11, 2006).

In the years since, Bernhardt has made tens of thousands of dollars' worth of political contributions. Last election cycle, for instance, he and his family contributed a total of nearly $35,000 to Republican lawmakers, according to data compiled by the nonpartisan Center for Responsive Politics. Some of the biggest beneficiaries included Sens. Mike Lee of Utah, Dan Sullivan of Alaska and Thom Tillis of North Carolina.

A native of the tiny western Colorado oil town of Rifle, Bernhardt grew up hiking, hunting, skiing and riding on the federal lands in Garfield County. He dropped out of high school, choosing instead to get his GED and then a bachelor's degree at the University of Northern Colorado. He interned at the Supreme Court and graduated with honors from the George Washington University Law School.

Early in his career, he served as a staffer for former Rep. Scott McInnis (R-Colo.).

Bernhardt's nomination comes a month to the day after Zinke told a ranching group that "the president has approved most, if not all" of his picks for key Interior leadership positions (E&E News PM, March 28).

The deputy secretary announcement, however, is the first to emerge from the White House since then, leaving Interior without permanent political leadership picks at the assistant secretary or bureau director levels three months into the Trump administration.

Ric,

Thank you for thinking about me. I was in DC last week and will not be there on May 2.

I know it will be a successful event.
